OFCA Holds Winter Workshop in Stillwater

Meeting Features New and Veteran Chiefs from across Oklahoma

The Oklahoma Fire Chiefs Association (OFCA) held a winter workshop in Stillwater, OK, in mid-January to build relationships among chief officers and support the chiefs in their roles and responsibilities. Fire Protection Publications (FPP) provided several speakers for the various sessions during the three-day event held at the ConocoPhillips OSU Alumni Center at Oklahoma State University.

FPP Director Chris Neal gave the welcome and keynote address at the New Chief Officer luncheon. FPP Assistant Director Mike Wieder conducted a session on highway incident safety, and IFSTA Projects/Curriculum Coordinator Ed Kirtley addressed the challenge of politics in local communities.
